THE West Tennessee Whig has been enlarged and otherwise much improved. We congratulate our neighbors upon the fact, and wish them a continuance of the favor and esteem of the public.

THE Leavenworth (Kansas) Commonwealth says of REVELS, the recently elected Mississippi negro Senator, that he commenced public life in St. Louis as a Methodist exhorter. and initiated his labors by a row, in the midst of which he was knocked down with a bottle. For this he was turned out of the church but was again admitted in 1864. when he was sent to Leavenworth, where he succeeded in "misappropriating" church funds to the amount of $1500, which being proven on him in a public trial, he was forced to immigrate to Logisville in the fall of 1867. His character becoming known he removed thence to Natchez. Miss., in 1869, stopping by the way in Memphis long enough to assist in hanging the murderer Moony. He is now United States Senator. Judging from his past experience he is
